

The VOCALISER

What happens when you have gone to the time and expense of having a state-of-the-art Security System fitted to your property and an alarm activation is not reported - not everyone wants to get involved ! How many times have you heard an alarm and done nothing about it ?

You can't leave the protection of your home and your family to chance.

To overcome the uncertainty of what actually happens when your alarm is activated, Pyronix are proud to announce the solution to your problem - The Vocaliser

What happens when your alarm bell rings?

The Vocaliser has the ability to dial up to four telephone numbers upon an alarm activation - including mobile numbers which enables you, a relative or neighbour to be informed immediately of an intrusion so that the appropriate action may be taken.

An easy to use listen in option allows you to silently monitor your property wherever you may be. An added two-way speech feature also enables you to speak into the property through discreetly placed speakers.

Therefore upon receipt of an alarm call, you may listen into the premises using your authorisation code and verify whether the call is a genuine alarm activation enabling you to take the appropriate action.

The Vocaliser is simply connected to your new or existing system and telephone line.

VOCALISER

The Vocaliser is unique in its variety of applications:

- It has two outputs which your installer can programme to operate electrical items such as lights, heating, refrigeration equipment etc. or even control your security system. This allows you to operate household appliances anytime of the day from anywhere in the world by simply telephoning your Vocaliser.
- The Vocaliser may also be adapted for use in sheltered housing. By connecting the system to conveniently placed PA buttons and/or pressure mats assistance may be alerted in the case of an emergency.
- Discreetly positioned microphones and speakers allow you to listen into your property to verify the cause of an activation and talk back if necessary.

All in all the Vocaliser is a versatile security addition that has proved itself to be invaluable in both the domestic and commercial sectors.

Ask your installer for details of how the Vocaliser can be adapted to suit your own personal requirements.
